Generative AI and HCI Workshop at CHI 2024
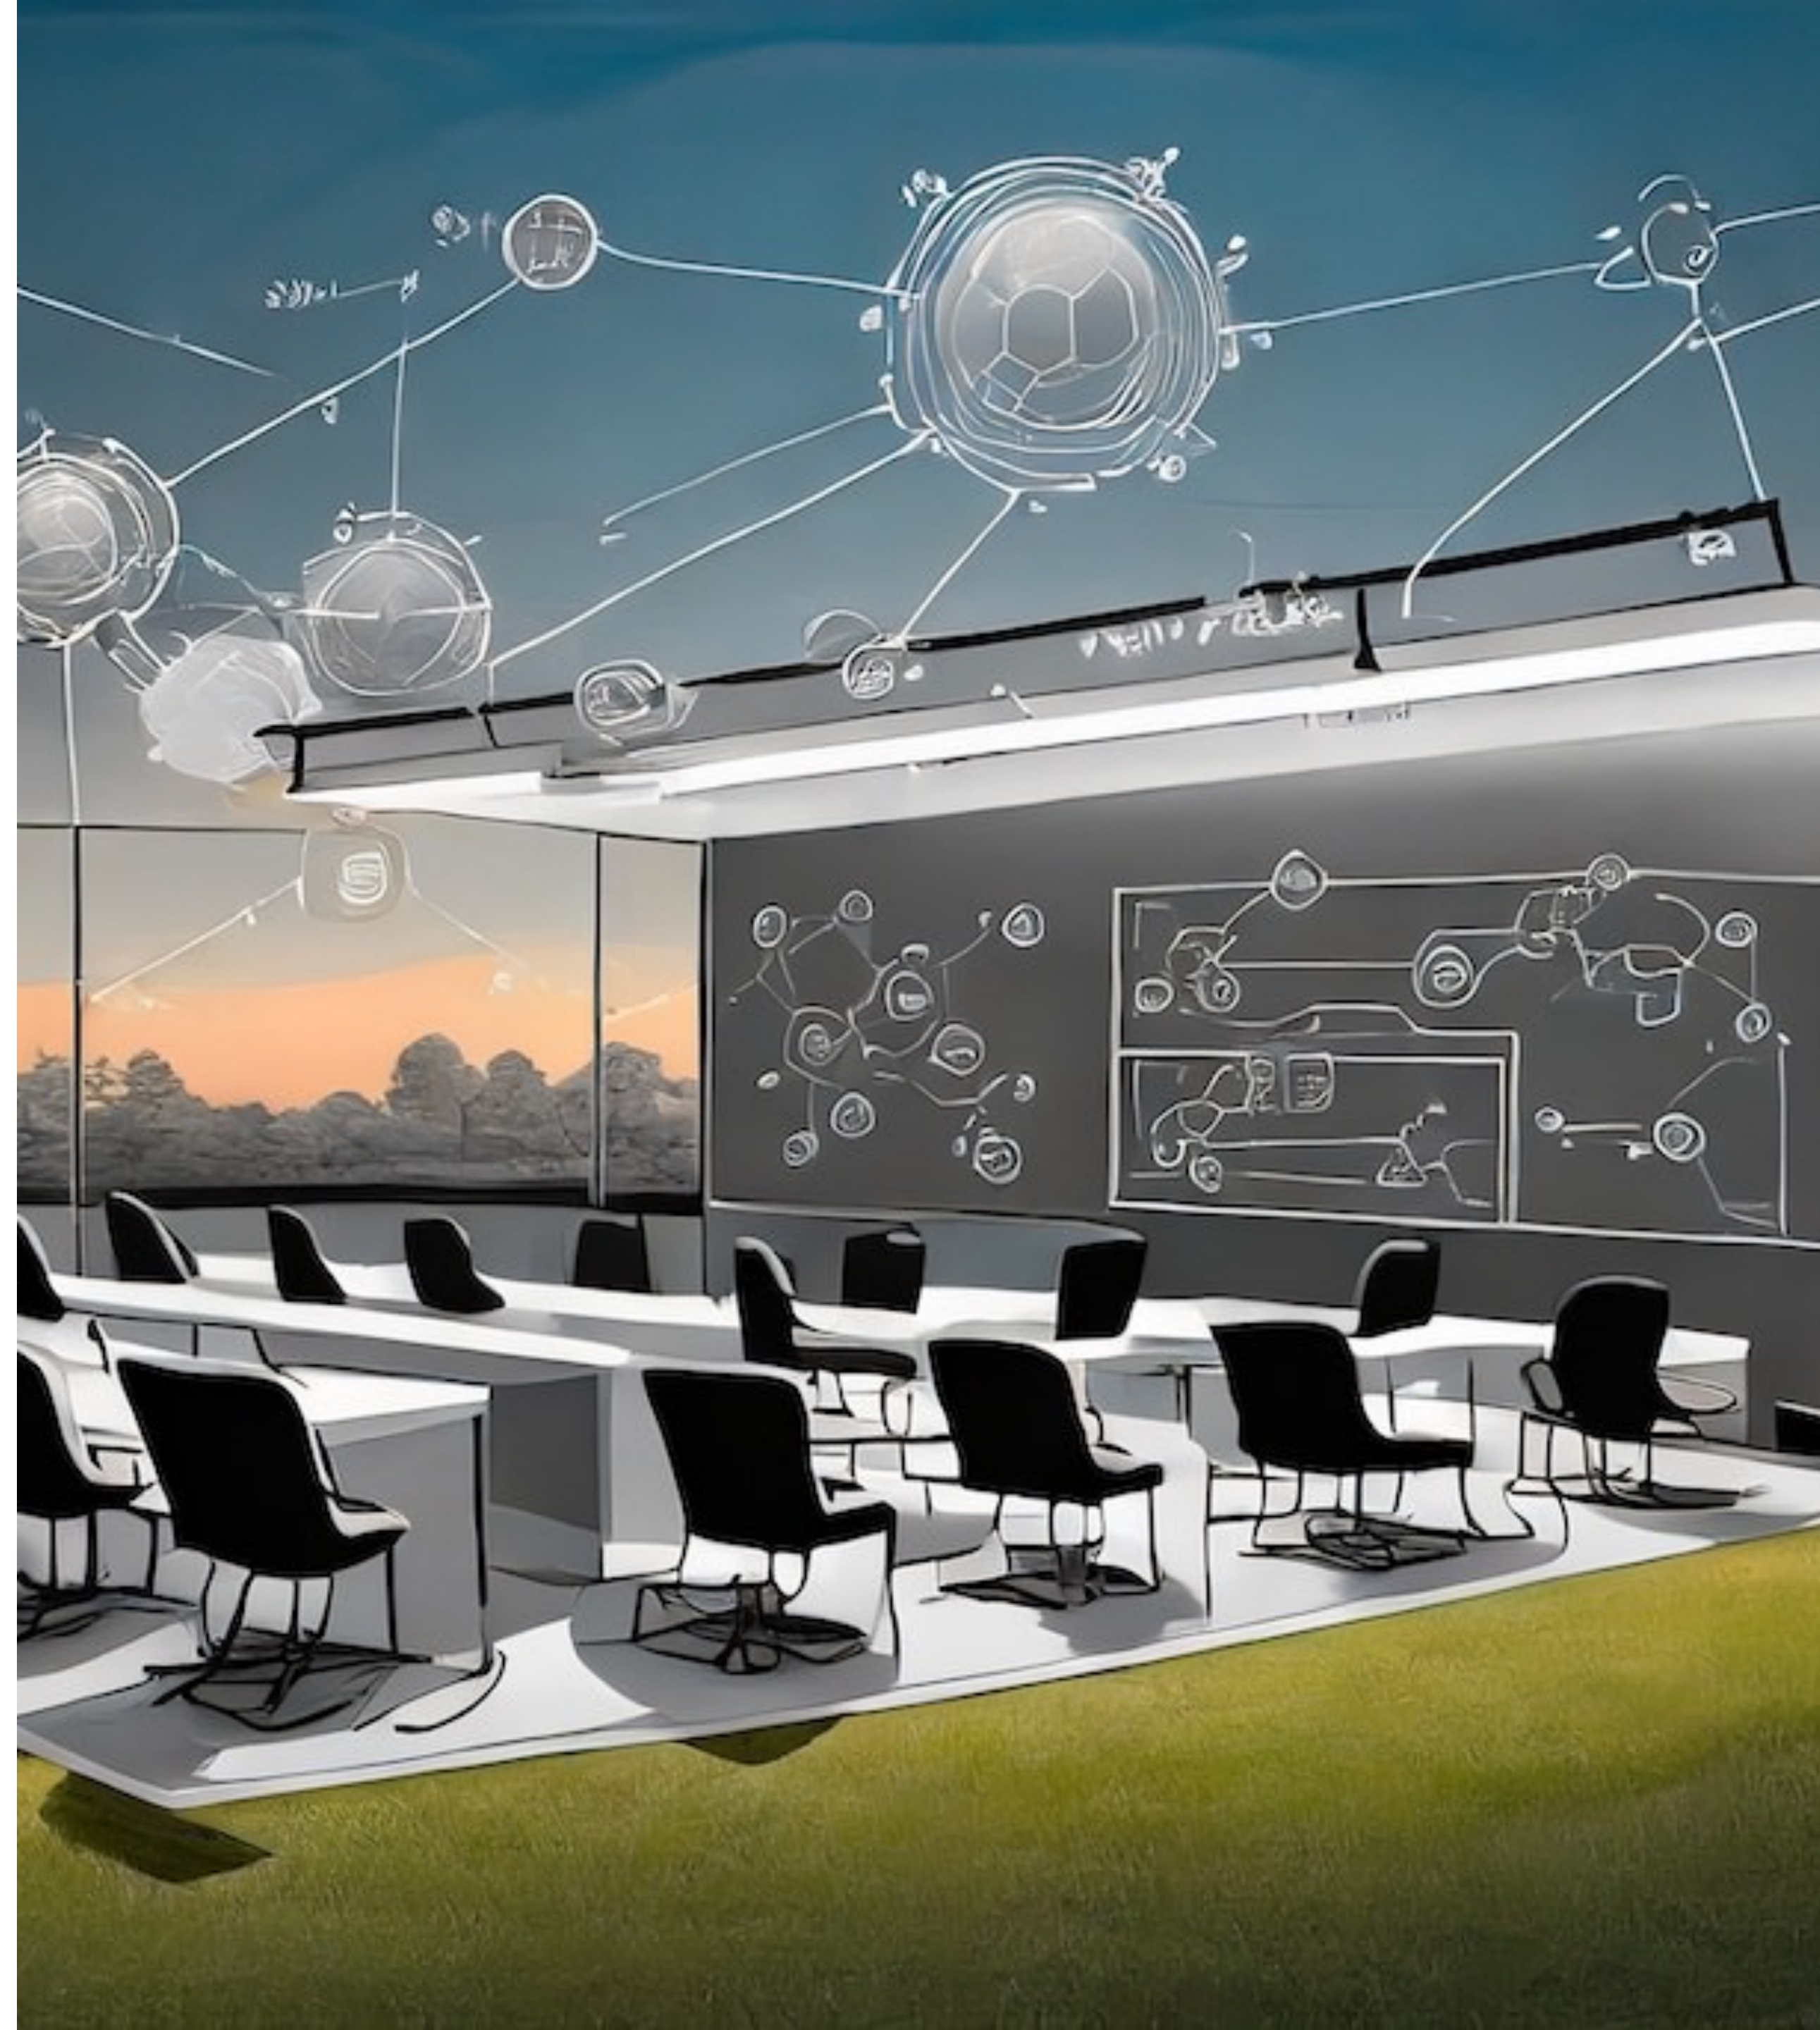

Closing Thoughts

Michael Muller, Charles Martin, Mary Lou Maher, Greg Walsh, Anna Kantosalo

Papers and Posters

Focus on inclusion in our review process.

- 59 Submissions

- 42 Accepted

- 21 Presentations

- 21 Posters

(2022: 24 accepted,

2023: 30 accepted)

Review Process

- All submissions received two reviews.

- 59 submissions equals 118 reviews

- 39 reviewers (thank you!)
- How was the review process?

Participants

- ~70 participants invited (CHI registrants + first authors)

- How many people are in the room at CHI?

- How many people are online?

Hybrid
...but maybe remote first

- GenAICHI workshop started online in 2022.

- This year we fit with the CHI schedule

- This year we saw genuine discussion between remote and in-person.

- Gather.Town use inspired by good experience at ACM Cognition and Creativity

Next Steps

- Potential for edited book.

- What should GenAICHI look like in future?

- How can we have a balance between in-person and remote

- Presence and format are big discussions at CHI—can workshops be experimental?